

Bryant Woods Elementary School Presents
Author, Jonathan W. Stokes

We are very excited to present Mr. Jonathan W. Stokes, author of the Addison Cooke series and the New Thrifty Guide to the Past series, to our students on:

Monday, January 29, 2018

Like a middle-grade Magic School Bus, the Thrifty Guides take readers on funny and informative trips to the greatest moments in history, providing useful information for the practical time traveler, such as:

Where can I find a decent hotel room in ancient Rome for under five sesterces a day? Is horse parking included? What are my legal options if I'm fed to the lions at the Colosseum? How do I join the Boston Tea Party without winding up in a British prison?

And most importantly, how can I score a lunch with Alexander Hamilton?

These guides answer these fiery, burning questions with the marshmallows of information. There is handy advice on how to join Paul Revere's spy ring at the Green Dragon Tavern, how to find the best picnicking spots to watch Julius Caesar's assassination at the Roman Forum in 44 BC, and how to summon the strength to storm a British gun battery when you haven't eaten for three days. With comic-like illustrations, info charts designed like Yelp reviews, and maps that cleverly balance facts with humor—history has never been more fun!

“Addison Cooke is Indiana Jones and James Bond rolled in to one. Stokes’ witty second adventure only improves upon the first, giving great theatrical drama to this rollicking ride.”—Booklist

A former teacher who is now a Hollywood screenwriter, Jonathan W. Stokes has written screenplays on assignment for Warner Brothers, Universal, Fox, Paramount, New Line, and Sony/Columbia. Inspired by a childhood love of The Goonies and Ferris Bueller's Day Off, Jonathan wrote his first novel, Addison Cooke and the Treasure of the Incas in 2016. Born in Manhattan, he currently resides in Los Angeles, where he can be found showing off his incredible taste in dishware and impressive 96% accuracy with high fives.
